

About the Role

The purpose of the role is to supervise bulk and commercial fuel operations within the Auckland region to facilitate consistent achievement of delivery service levels through appropriate staff supervision and fleet maintenance management.

You will work with the Regional Operations Manager, the scheduling team, the driving group, senior management, and other key stakeholders at Allied Petroleum to ensure regional operations are maintained to meet customer demand, and all compliance requirements. We balance this by ensuring operational activities are completed in a safe, cost effective and efficient manner.

About You

You will likely have a background in transport or the fuel industry, with fuel logistics and operational experience preferred. You must be methodical and have an eye for detail. As this is a fast-paced environment you must be able to remain calm so that you can make effective decisions when the pressure is on. You will also have:

- Knowledge of legal and industry standards relating to truck operations and NZ employment practice.
- Strong time management skills with multi-task capability.
- Strong interpersonal skills: able to deal effectively and professionally with Management, Staff and Vendors.
- Genuine concern on matters of the environment, health, and safety.
- Supervisory and interpersonal skills.
- Customer facing experience, including terminals, commercial and bulk cartage (e.g. Oil Companies)
- Flexible hours of work, including after-hours availability and call outs as required.
- Solid computer skills, with a willingness to learn new computerised systems.
- Licences 1-5 with a DG endorsement advantageous.

In addition, you will enjoy being part of a busy team, be punctual, reliable and be flexible in your working hours.

About Us

Allied Petroleum Ltd is a member of the HWR Group of companies and a leading national supplier of bulk fuels and lubricants throughout NZ. The company has a significant market presence and is recognised for technical capability, operational excellence, and product innovation. As well as free health insurance after a qualifying period, a staff referral scheme, long service rewards and other company benefits, the company offers personal development programmes and on-the-job training. Allied Petroleum has a rigorous drug and alcohol policy, and the successful candidate would need to pass a drug test and pre-employment medical prior to commencement.

Apply today and fuel your career!